

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

- A semiconductor integrated circuit includes one or more function blocks, a nonvolatile memory unit which stores therein coded license
- 5 information, and a decoder circuit which decodes the license information stored in the nonvolatile memory unit, and makes one of the function blocks either usable or unusable depending on the decoded license information.

1004659.011702
202506529001